

Terry Reynoldson, Evaluation of Instruction
Comments from Continuing Education Students in Design Principles
Fall, 2012

What did you like about this course? Please identify specific components that contributed to your learning.

1. I think that Terry's approach to keeping to simple assignments and lessons is very helpful. The purpose is clear, and he does a very good job teaching about the subject through examples, descriptions, and then instructing assignments.
2. I liked the diversity of projects. Each one was very different and it was good to be a step out of my comfort zone and be challenged.
3. The instructor was enthusiastic and experienced. The projects we did were things I had never tried and probably wouldn't have thought to try. I felt I learned much more than if I had just read a textbook.
4. Instructor was passionate about what he was teaching and was always available and willing to help.

What suggestions do you have for improving the course?

1. Less work expected to be done at home. I took the class to carve out time to work on art and don't have an additional 3-4 hours every week for art homework
2. The course materials didn't perfectly line up with the outline and some items were very specific. It would be helpful to know which items are "necessary" and which are "recommended"
3. From past courses, I enjoyed listening to others describe their work and the process. We did some of this discussion in class, but it would have been nice to have more discussion.
4. It would have been nice if we had more time to try things, or if the course was split into two. I felt I was just getting into things and then it was a new project.
5. None, I enjoyed it very much.

You get the last word.... Is there anything else you would like us to know?

1. Terry is a very supportive and enthusiastic teacher but I felt like he focuses too much on saying the good things and not the bad. I think the constructive feedback is necessary for growing and learning and I felt like I was missing some of that constructive feedback at the end of projects (he was always available for assistance). Wonderful teacher, everyone loved him!
2. It was a very enjoyable course and Terry made it fun!
3. It was a real learning experience for me, and I really enjoyed it.
4. Excellent class
